

SPECIAL 30% DISCOUNT OFFER ***

Save £5.00 on paperback copies!

ORDER ONLINE only from the publisher's website. Offer ends 1 March 2018.

Cite the code TEVIOT2018 You will be invoiced on publication.

This unusual new book stands out in a crowded field.

- It provides practical, expert, insider-knowledge.
- It includes a full guide to current websites.
- It offers many tips, short-cuts and helps to access the evidence you need. And to understandings of what this means.
- It is rooted in the many years of day-to-day enquiries in family history by the noted international expert Lady Teviot.
- It will be invaluable to the beginner and of great value to the more knowledgeable.
- It will help you rapidly to become 'street-wise.'

Contents: Preface. 1 Introduction. "One day I will", or how I began as a family historian. 2 Establishing the General Register Office. 3 UK Census returns. 4. From the parish registers. 5. The parish chest. 6. Underused sources for genealogical research. 7. Kill or cure: medicine and health in the 19th century. 8. Baby farming. 9. Lunatic asylums. 10. Workhouses. 11. Hospital records. 12. Wills and administration. 13. Genealogical geography. 14. Sight unseen. 15. Emigration and immigration. 16. Guide to Websites

Lady Teviot is an internationally known expert on family history research. She was President of the Federation of Family History Societies from 2001 to 2011 and is now a lifetime Vice-President. She is also Chairman of the Friends of the Keep Archives in Brighton, and she is a member of the Council of the British Records Association. Lady Teviot has featured in several of the very successful 'Heir Hunters' series on BBC1 television. Her company is Census Searches Ltd, a professional genealogical research firm which provides research into family history, probate and media research. Lady Teviot also undertakes lecture tours in Canada and Australia, and has also toured South Africa, USA and New Zealand. In 1965 Lady Teviot married the Honourable Charles John Kerr, who three years later succeeded his father as Baron Teviot in the House of Lords.

ISBN 9781912224357 Paperback £14.99 OFFER PRICE £9.99. Publication March 2018.